

HISTORY IN THE PARK

The History Council of Western Australia and Nedlands Library and Local Studies Centre are delighted to present local author Deborah Burrows talking about historical evidence in novel writing

DATE: Saturday 5 April 2014
TIME: 11.45am for 12 noon
VENUE: John Leckie Pavilion, Cnr Melvista Ave
and Loton Rd, Nedlands
COST: Gold coin donation welcomed

Deborah Burrows is a lawyer, writer and historian and Nedlands resident. In her legal work she specialises in the area of medical law. She has several degrees in history – modern and medieval, including a post-graduate degree in Medical History from the University of Oxford.

Her first novel, A Stranger in my Street was published in June 2012. Deborah's second novel, Taking a Chance, was published in May 2013.

Both novels are set during the Second World War and are located around the Swan River in Perth.

Bring along your books for signing by the author. A small amount of books will also be available for purchase at the discounted price of $25 (correct cash and cheques only please).

Introduced by Dr Lise Summers, President, History Council of Western Australia

RSVP's essential

(1) Julia Wallis, Executive Officer, History Council of Western Australia; Mob 0421 477 034 E: office@historycouncilwa.org.au or

(2) Amy Price, Local Studies Librarian, Nedlands Library & Local Studies Centre; T 9273 3500; E: aprice@nedlands.wa.gov.au

THE HISTORY COUNCIL OF WESTERN AUSTRALIA GRATEFULLY ACKNOWLEDGES THE SUPPORT IT RECEIVES FROM THE WESTERN AUSTRALIAN HISTORY FOUNDATION